Network with the Geothermal Industries Finest.
Membership means effective promotion of ground source heat pump systems. Our strength is in our people - their experience and their willingness to work together. IGSHPA membership provides the tools necessary to become a force in the GSHP industry.

The International Ground Source Heat Pump Association:
- Promotes the use of ground source heat pump systems internationally
- Offers continuing geothermal education and training for industry professionals
- Develops and distributes internationally recognized geothermal training materials
- Develops and supports sound industry standards
- Provides a forum for information exchange and discussion

When you join IGSHPA, you join a group of professionals with diverse areas of expertise in the geothermal industry. They are here to exchange information on what works and how to do things better. It’s a network you can’t get any other way.

All members receive the following:
- Membership ID card & certificate
- A free subscription to Geo Outlook magazine
- Member discounts on conferences and seminars
- Listing as an individual on the IGSHPA website business directory
